established in 1994

the only academic programme in the field

in 28 years - 1485 graduates

accredited until 2027

The aim of study programme is:

to prepare academically educated and professionally qualified specialists and managers for the needs of Latvian society, state administration, and local self-governments, who would increase the performance of the public sector in all its operational processes in multi-level management, as well as ensure the development of the Latvian state and international competitiveness

New Public Management

Our government are in deep trouble today. This book is for those who care about government – because they work in government, or work with government, or study government, or simply want their governments to be more effective.

Many people assume that entrepreneurs are risk-takers. But entrepreneurs do not seek risks, they seek opportunities...
